- b. are financially able to assume the risk of losses up to their fully invested capital. CFDs are not appropriate investments for retirement funds.

The Company may apply a test on the information provided by you, during the process of verifying your account. If, based on this information, the Company finds that you do not possess the appropriate level of experience and/or knowledge, you will be informed as such and must understand and accept all associated risks if you decide to continue in the opening of your trading account. It is important for you to ensure that any decision to engage in trading CFDs and other products offered by the Company, is made on an informed basis, and that you understand the nature of the CFDs/products offered and the extent of the risks associated with CFDs and other products.

Prior to accepting Company's Terms and Conditions, or making an order, the Client should consider carefully whether investing in a specific financial instrument is suitable for him/her in the light of his/her circumstances and financial resources.

The Client represents, warrants and agrees that he/she understands these risks, is willing and able, financially and otherwise, to assume the risks of trading CFDs and that the loss of the Client's entire account balance will not change Client's lifestyle.

3. CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

The Company is the counterparty to all transactions entered into under the Terms and Conditions and, as such, the Company's interests may be in conflict with the Client's. The Conflicts of Interest Policy is available on the Company's website.

4. PRICES, MARGIN AND VALUATIONS

The Company will provide prices to be used in trading, valuation of the Client's positions and determination of margin requirements. The performance of the Client's CFD trades will depend on the prices set by the Company and market fluctuations in the underlying asset to which the Client's contract relates. The Company's prices for a given market are calculated by reference to the price of the relevant underlying asset which the Company obtains from third party external reference sources or exchanges. Although the Company expects that these prices will be reasonably related to prices available in the market, the Company's prices may vary from prices available to banks and other market participants. The Company has considerable discretion in setting and collecting margin. The Company is authorised to convert funds in the Client's account for margin into and from such foreign currency at a rate of exchange determined by the Company at its sole discretion based on then prevailing money market rates.

5. RIGHTS TO UNDERLYING ASSETS

The Client has no rights or obligations in respect of the underlying instruments/assets relating to the Client's CFD trades.

6. MARGIN REQUIREMENTS

The Client must maintain the minimum margin requirement on his/her open positions at all times. It is the Client's responsibility to monitor his/her account balance. The Company has

v.2 – 07/2025

T Markets EU Limited is a Cyprus Investment Firm, regulated by the Cyprus Securities and Exchange Commission (CySEC)

License Number: 208/13 / Registration Number: HE 291974

Registered Office Address: Agias Zonis & Thessalonikis, 1, NICOLAOU PENTADROMOS CENTER, Floor 7, Office 701-702, 3026, Limassol, Cyprus

the right to liquidate any or all open positions whenever the minimum margin requirement is not maintained and this may result in the Client's CFD positions being closed at a loss for which the Client will be liable.

7. EXTENT OF LOSS

Where the Client shorts a market and the price rises, it is possible that the extent of the Client's losses may not become clear until the position has been closed. The Client must undertake sufficient analysis prior to entering into a transaction to ensure they are able to support the extent of the risk arising.

8. CURRENCY RISK

Where the trade is settled in a currency other than the Client's base currency, the value of the Client's return may be affected by the conversion into the base currency.

9. CONTRACTS FOR DIFFERENCE (CFDs)

CFDs are derivative financial instruments deriving their value from the prices of the underlying assets/markets in which they refer to (for example currency, equity indices, stocks, metals, indices futures, forwards, etc.). Although the prices at which the trades are set by an algorithm developed by the Company, the prices are derived from the underlying assets/market. It is important, therefore, that the Client understands the risks associated with trading in the relevant underlying asset/market because fluctuations in the price of the underlying asset/market will affect the profitability of his/her trade.

CFDs are leveraged financial products and as such, trading CFDs involves a high risk of loss, as price movements are influenced by the amount of leverage the Client is using. Nonetheless, as a result of the negative balance protection, the Client may not lose more than their initial investment. However, the use of negative balance protection depends on, among other things, the categorisation of the client.

10. ONE CLICK TRADING AND IMMEDIATE EXECUTION

The Company's trading platform provides immediate transmission of the Client's order once he/she enters the notional amount and clicks "Buy/Sell." This means that there is no opportunity to review the order after clicking "Buy/Sell" and market orders cannot be cancelled or amended. This feature may be different from other trading systems the Client has used. By using the Company's trading platform, the Client acknowledges and agrees to the one-click system and accepts the risk of this immediate transmission/execution feature.

11. NON-ADVISOR

The Company is not an adviser or a fiduciary to the Client. Where the Company provides generic market recommendations, such generic recommendations do not constitute a personal recommendation or investment advice and do not consider any of the Client's personal circumstances or investment objectives, nor is it an offer to buy or sell, or the solicitation of an offer to buy or sell, any CFDs. Each decision taken by the Client to enter into a CFD position with the Company and each decision as to whether a transaction is appropriate or proper for the Client is an independent decision made by the Client. The Company is not acting as an advisor or serving as a fiduciary to the Client. The Client agrees that the Company has no fiduciary duty to the Client and no liability in connection with and is not responsible for any liabilities, claims, damages, costs and expenses, including attorneys' fees, incurred in connection with the Client following the Company's generic trading recommendations or taking or not taking any action based upon any generic recommendation or information provided by the Company.

12. RECOMMENDATIONS ARE NOT GUARANTEED

The generic market recommendations provided by the Company are based solely on the judgment of its personnel and should be considered as such. The Client acknowledges that they enter into any transactions relying on their own judgment. Any market recommendations provided are generic only and may or may not be consistent with the market positions or intentions of the Company and/or its affiliates. The generic market recommendations of the Company are based upon information believed to be reliable, but the Company cannot and does not guarantee the accuracy or completeness thereof or represent that following such generic recommendations will reduce or eliminate the risk inherent in trading CFDs.

13. MARKET CONDITIONS

The Client may not be able to close open positions due to the market conditions which may cause any unusual and sharp market price fluctuations, or other circumstances in which the Company may be unable to close out the Client's position at the price specified by the Client and the Client agrees that the Company will bear no liability for a failure to do so.

14. INTERNET TRADING

When the Client trades online (via the internet), the Company shall not be liable for any claims, losses, damages, costs or expenses, caused, directly or indirectly, by any malfunction or failure of any transmission, communication system, computer facility or trading software, whether belonging to the Company, the Client, any exchange or any settlement or clearing system.

15. QUOTING ERRORS

Should a quoting error occur (including responses to the Client's requests), the Company is not liable for any resulting errors in account balances and reserves the right to make necessary corrections or adjustments to the relevant account. Any dispute arising from such quoting errors will be resolved on the basis of the fair market value, as determined by the Company in its sole discretion and acting in good faith, of the relevant market at the time such an error occurred. In cases where the prevailing market represents prices different from the prices the Company has posted on its platform, it will attempt, on a best efforts basis, to execute transactions on or close to the prevailing market prices. These prevailing market prices will be the prices, which are ultimately reflected on the Client's statements. This may or may not adversely affect the Client's realised and unrealised gains and losses.

16. NO GUARANTEES OF PROFIT

There are no guarantees of profit nor of avoiding losses when trading CFDs. The Client has received no such guarantees from the Company or from any of its representatives. The Client is aware of the risks inherent in trading CFDs hereby confirms that he/she is financially able to bear such risks and withstand any losses incurred.

17. COMMUNICATION RISKS

The Client acknowledges that the unencrypted information transmitted by e-mail is not protected from any unauthorised access. The Company shall not be responsible for financial losses arising from delayed or failed receipt of the Company's message. The Client remains fully responsible for the security of the credentials for his/her trading account(s) as well as the confidential information that the Company sends to the Client. The Company is not responsible for financial losses arising from the Client's disclosure of this information to third parties.

18. OTC COUNTERPARTY RISK

When trading CFDs, such transactions will not be executed on a recognised or designated investment exchange and are known as OTC transactions. All positions entered into with the Company must be closed with the Company and cannot be closed with any other entity. OTC transactions may involve greater risk than investing in on-exchange contracts because there is no exchange market on which to close out an open position. It may be impossible to liquidate an existing position, to assess the value of the position arising from an OTC transaction or to assess the exposure to risk. Bid Prices and Ask Prices need not be quoted by the Company, based on best execution policies applicable in the market. There is no central clearing and no guarantee by any other party of the Company's payment obligations to the Client. The Client must look only to the Company for performance of all contracts in Client's account and for the return of any margin or collateral.

19. LEVERAGE

The leverage often obtainable in CFD trading means that a relatively small market movement can lead to a proportionately much larger movement in the value of Client's liability. The Client should be aware of the implications of this, in particular, of the margin requirements. The effect of leverage makes investing in CFDs riskier than investing directly in the underlying asset. This is a result of the margining system applicable to CFDs, which generally involves a small deposit relative to the size of the transaction, so that a relatively small price movement in the underlying asset can have a disproportional impact on a Client's trade. A small price movement in the Client's favour can provide a high return on the deposit, however, a small price movement against the Client may quickly result in significant losses.

20. INSOLVENCY

The Company's insolvency or default or the insolvency or default of any parties involved in transactions undertaken by the Company on the Client's behalf (including without limitation brokers, execution venues, and liquidity providers), may lead to positions being liquidated or closed out without the Client's consent and as a result, the Client may suffer losses. If the Company is unable to satisfy repayment claims, eligible claimants may have the right to compensation by the Investor Compensation Fund.

21. FORCE MAJEURE EVENT

In case of a Force Majeure Event, the Company may not be in a position to arrange for the execution of a Client's orders or fulfil its obligations under the agreement with the Client. As a result, the Client may suffer financial losses. The Company will not be liable or have any responsibility for any type of loss or damage arising out of any failure, interruption, or delay in performing its obligations under the Terms and Conditions where such failure, interruption or delay is due to a Force Majeure event.

22. ABNORMAL MARKET RISKS

The Client acknowledges that under abnormal market conditions, the period during which the orders are executed may be extended, or it may be impossible for orders to be executed at the declared prices or to be executed at all. Abnormal market conditions include, but are not limited to, times of rapid price fluctuations, rises or falls in one trading session, to such an extent that, under the rules of the relevant exchange, trading is suspended or restricted, or there is a lack of liquidity, or this may occur at the opening of trading sessions.

23. RISKS ASSOCIATED WITH LAWS OF CERTAIN GOVERNMENTS

A change in laws and regulations may materially impact a financial instrument and investments in a sector or market. A change in laws or regulations made by a government or regulatory body or a decision reached by a judicial body can increase business operational costs, lessen investment attractiveness, change the competitive landscape and as such, alter the profit possibilities of an investment. This risk is unpredictable and may vary from market to market.

24. GAPPING RISK

Financial markets may fluctuate rapidly, and the prices of CFDs will reflect this. Gapping is a risk that arises as a result of market volatility. Gapping occurs when the prices of CFDs suddenly shift from one level to another, without passing through the level in between. There may not always be an opportunity for the Client to place an order between the two price levels.

25. STOP LOSS ORDERS

The Company offers you the opportunity to use stop loss orders to limit the potential losses you can incur from an open position. This option automatically closes your position when it reaches a certain price limit. There are some circumstances in which a stop loss limit is ineffective, such as when there are rapid price movements or market closure.

26. NO RIGHTS TO UNDERLYING ASSETS

You have no rights or obligations in respect of the underlying instruments or assets relating to your CFD. You should understand that CFDs can have different underlying assets, including, equity, indices and commodities, for example. Specifically, in the case of a stock CFD, you will not receive any voting rights.

27. RISKS ASSOCIATED WITH TRADING CFDs ON CRYPTOCURRENCIES

The Company hereby wishes to warn investors on trading CFDs on Cryptocurrencies of the following:

Trading CFDs on Cryptocurrencies is not suitable for all investors since these products are considered highly complex and, therefore, investors shall be fully aware and be able to understand the specific characteristics and risks from these trading activities. Investors should not trade in such products if they do not have the necessary knowledge and expertise in this specific product.

The Client should always have in mind any risk associated with the trading venues on which such virtual currencies may be traded on. Cryptocurrencies are traded on non-regulated digital exchanges. These exchanges can determine price formation and movement, without notice, causing price volatility.

Cryptocurrencies are extremely volatile and subject to sharp price movements. As such, trading in CFDs on cryptocurrencies carries an even higher degree of risk. There is always a high risk of losing all of your invested capital and especially within a short period of time. These products are highly volatile. Pricing can fluctuate and it does not fall under any regulatory supervision, meaning that it can change at any time. Cryptocurrency trading carries additional risks such as hard forks or discontinuation. Any event in the market may immediately affect your trading account. You should only invest funds that you can afford to lose and familiarise yourself with these risks before trading these products. Cryptocurrency CFDs are not suitable and/or appropriate for all Clients.

You should only invest if you are an experienced investor with sophisticated knowledge of financial markets and you fully understand the risks associated with CFDs and cryptocurrencies.
